Albertsons

WOKC

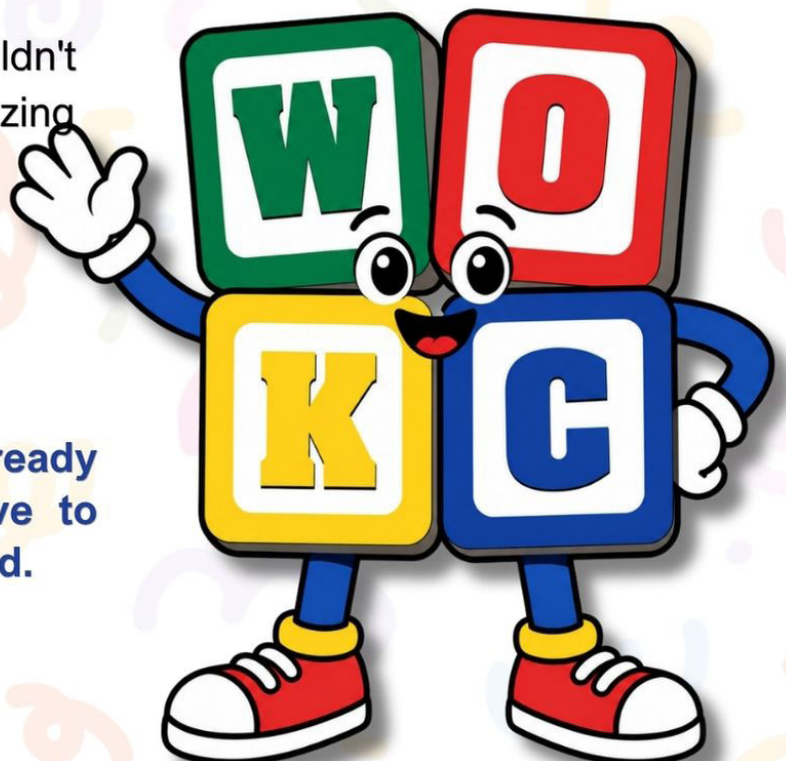

On behalf of Tom Thumb Albertsons, and everyone at Wipe Out Kids' Cancer, thank you for being here tonight. We're thrilled to welcome the football communities of Duncanville and Allen, as well as football fans from the DFW Metroplex and beyond.

Since 1980, WOKC has been there for kids fighting cancer and their families. We provide comfort and hope through programs that wrap around the entire family, and we fund innovative research that's changing the fight against pediatric cancer.

Here is what we believe: kid's shouldn't get cancer. But when they do, amazing people like you step in to help.

By being here tonight, you're already making a difference. We'd love to have you on our team year-round.

RESEARCH FUNDING

THE IMPACT OF RESEARCH

Wipe Out Kids' Cancer focuses on cutting-edge pediatric cancer innovations that deliver real results: early detection, prevention of harmful side effects, and less invasive treatments.

Our Science & Medical Research Committee is selective by design. They choose studies that matter most—innovations that keep scientists working toward the breakthroughs our mission demands.

WOKC has significantly impacted the pediatric cancer space by funding over $13 million in new cutting-edge childhood cancer research projects. This seed money has yielded tens of millions of dollars in additional grants invested in further critical research discoveries.

Today, WOKC partners with some of the country's top research institutions, including UT Southwestern, Fred Hutchinson Cancer Center, UC San Diego, Children's Medical Center (Dallas), and Dana Farber Cancer Institute.

2026 WOKC GALA

On April 25, 2026, WOKC celebrated 45 years of impact at the Ritz-Carlton Dallas with our community, supporters, and partners united around one vision: a world where no child faces cancer. The gala raised $4 million, with $2 million designated specifically for research.

The V Foundation for Cancer Research stepped up to match that $2 million commitment, unlocking a total of $4 million in game-changing pediatric cancer research grants. That $4 million will fund the bold, innovative studies that don't fit traditional funding models—the research that changes outcomes, the breakthroughs that give families hope. When organizations like WOKC and the V Foundation believe in a scientist's vision, the entire pediatric cancer landscape shifts.

Warrior Spotlight of the Game

Wipe Out Kids' Cancer is proud to stand alongside children and teens across DFW as they face pediatric cancer with extraordinary courage. These young patients are Warriors, and beside them are families navigating unimaginable circumstances with remarkable strength and resilience.

They are not statistics. They are not case studies. They are real children, real families, and real stories unfolding in the communities we call home. They are our neighbors, classmates, friends, and loved ones—because pediatric cancer does not discriminate. Every Warrior's journey is different. Some are still in the fight, enduring surgeries, radiation, chemotherapy, and long days in the hospital. Others are celebrating the incredible milestone of being cancer-free.

But no matter where they are in their journey, they share something powerful: they are Warriors, and their stories matter.

Wyatt's Story

It started with a feeling only a mom would catch. Around the Fourth of July, Alysia noticed Wyatt's belly looked a little bigger than usual. She thought maybe he was having some stomach trouble and started giving him veggie gummies just to help things along. But when Wyatt went to visit family in New Mexico a couple weeks later and she saw him over FaceTime, her gut told her something was not right.

His belly was even bigger than before. She made an appointment. Just to be safe. Just to check. On July 22nd, the doctor examined Wyatt once, then examined him again, then asked a second doctor to come into the room. At noon they drew his blood.

By 5 PM the Vaughan family was on their way to Children's Medical Dallas where a full team of oncologists was already waiting. That night Wyatt had blood drawn, a CT scan, an X-ray, and an ultrasound. The doctors were thorough and honest. They told the family that because they caught it so early, it was actually hard to pinpoint exactly what was going on. On July 23rd they had their answer.

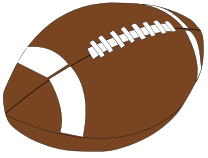

Wyatt was diagnosed with B-cell Acute Lymphoblastic Leukemia. The very next morning he started his first treatment. A spinal tap, chemo in the spine, a bone marrow biopsy, and having his port placed. All at 6 years old. Just like that, their whole world changed.

Words Of Impact

Buddy Bag Program

"The Buddy Bag is the most important part of the admission and early treatment process because it provides a ray of sunshine in an otherwise dark and scary time for a child and their family."

- Child Life Specialist, Children's Plano

"Smiles are hard to find when your child is fighting cancer. This bag was like a warm hug from a friend. It had everything we needed, and it showed us that someone cared. We needed that on the toughest day." - Mother of a pediatric cancer patient

WOKC Podcast

"I just listened to your podcast and I started crying because I felt like someone knew what I had been through. Thank you so much. Y'all are such a blessing." - 14-year-old cancer patient

"My son has Ewing Sarcoma and he's struggled with anger since diagnosis. He listened to two podcast episodes last Wednesday and it was a game-changer. He actually talked to his sister and me about things he heard. We heal in so many ways, and this podcast is doing that for our family. Can't wait for more episodes." - Mother of a pediatric cancer patient

Warrior Family Events

"I didn't realize how much we needed this time to reconnect as a family. We laughed, we talked, we cheered. Cancer has taken so much from us, but last night reminded us what we still have: each other." - Father of a pediatric cancer patient

Warrior Parent Socials

"We were going to the Cooking Class to either celebrate good news or take our minds off bad news. Either way, we needed this. It's rare to just be a couple again."

- Mother of a pediatric cancer patient

BUILDING A STRONG TEAM

Teamwork is more than just a strategy—it's a shared commitment to a common goal. Whether it's on the football field or in the workplace, true success comes from working together.

At the United Auto Workers (UAW), we know the power of unity. Just as athletes combine their strengths to achieve victory, UAW members stand together to improve wages, benefits, and working conditions for all. Through collective bargaining, we're not just building stronger workplaces—we're strengthening entire communities across the country.

UAW Region 8 and our Dallas-area locals—119, 129, 218, 276, 317, 816, 848, 870, and 2360—are proud to support the Wipe Out Kids' Cancer Football Classic in Texas. We celebrate the spirit of teamwork and community that this event represents and champion the values that bring us together—on the field and beyond.

To join us or for more information on how to join the millions of union members fighting for working families, contact us: 1-800-2GET-UAW, 1-800-243-8829, UAW.org/organize

Warrior Family Programs

Warrior Family Entertainment Program

Between treatments, families need moments of joy.

Free, fun-filled events at amusement parks, concerts, sporting events, and holiday parties offer normalcy and happiness during a difficult journey. As parents say, these moments are "medicine for the soul."

Warrior Parent Socials

Cancer puts enormous stress on relationships. Our free social events (cooking classes, karaoke, game nights) give parents a chance to reconnect with each other and find community with others who understand. It's not just date night. It's survival.

Conversations with Kids Beating Cancer Podcast.

A safe space for kids and teens newly diagnosed with cancer. Each episode validates the emotions they're feeling and shares real stories from kids who have faced and beaten cancer.

Warrior Family Assistance Program

Many families also battle food insecurity and the cost of hospital travel. This program offers grocery and gasoline gift cards so families can focus on what matters: their child's healing.

BlueCross BlueShield of Texas

Every child deserves the chance to focus on being a kid—not fighting cancer.

Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Texas is proud to support Wipe Out Kids' Cancer and its mission to provide hope, comfort and critical resources to children and families facing pediatric cancer.

GAME BALL INSPIRATION

Tonight, two exceptional players will be recognized with the Jaxon Starling Award for their outstanding performances on the field. Both the Most Outstanding Offensive and Defensive Player will receive a commemorative football honoring the legacy of Jaxon Starling, a beloved Warrior whose life and spirit continue to inspire us all. Jaxon bravely fought Osteosarcoma until his passing in 2024. His courage, determination, and warrior heart live on through these awards.

"Jaxon had such an infectious spirit and constantly exuded joy. He was truly an angel on earth and everyone who met him was better because they met him," said Wipe Out Kids' Cancer CEO Kris Cumnock. Throughout his courageous battle with cancer, he constantly ensured the well-being of those around him.

At WOKC, we refer to kids with cancer as "Warriors" and Jaxon was certainly that. We hope the two young men honored tonight feel Jaxon's joy as his family presents the awards.
